

LIFE CYCLE OF MILLIONS IN DEVELOPING COUNTRIES - TALE OF SOCIAL RESEARCH-AS EVIDENT.

Dr. Nilotpal Banerjee

Associate Professor KPC Medical College & Hospital Jadavpur, Kolkata

ABSTRACT The problem of living the life, its dimension and magnitude in the developing countries are quite different from the developed hemisphere. The Influenza of the developing world and Affluenza of the developed world are poles apart. The life style in one area is like wishing quality of kinds and getting as per need. The other area chronically suffers from malignant pattern of constraints, never ending scenario that do not seem to shrink in spite of rules, regulation and guidelines. People prefer to lie down, sleep under the blanket in days of fever with chronic ulcer of under nutrition. No seeking interest, behavior to solve because seeking to providers do not solve. Provider groups themselves can not provide in full. So half treatment, half life, half smile and supplies for a day or two neither for cure nor for prevention, is the fallout of cruel design. The takers chose the dark corner and positioned as statue or specimen in the jar of the museum of Laboratories.

KEYWORDS : MISERY, LIFE, CONSTRAINTS AND TRUTH.

METHODS OF STUDY :

The population seen everyday, was studied by observation method and verbal question and answer method jotted down in twenty thousand seven hundred pages-a valuable preservation. The questionnaire was not supplied as many would not be able to write and so, would be an wasteful exercise.

INTRODUCTION :

It was intended to look inside to have deep idea on the existing pain and people. The harsh truth observed, felt, need to be slated for record of miserable scenario as evident, to the find ways and means for researcher and planners to contribute.

Relevant references and statistical description have not been cited as it would seldom result in positivity in the midst of malignant negativity.

ANALYSIS AND INTERPRETATION :

Analysis reveal that there exist educational degree holders in most families but unemployed for years. The families had to manage their study in schools and colleges with a natural expectation of employment for support of the house after completion of various courses. When the study is analysed, the shells are visible without the content. The buds, having taken, possible – care by families bloomed to flower but withered for no fault of their own. The little wish of employment after graduation and post graduation receded resulting in hopelessness. This ever receding phase, after being groomed, does not/cannot shape into service phase of the life curve. They go into oblivion without production. The instinct drags to only sexual production, adding to the already existing misery. The passing of each day from sunrise to sunset, the only layer of life stored for living with pain and pleasure of glimpse of the child born-the only smile. The smile vanishes with the increasing demand of the families. The age of life loads on, but, no page of any recordable document. The only document left has been analysed for deep interpretation. It is the history of regress, and degeneration and no regeneration at sight, for millions. Only few sneak through the barriers and hurdles and reach the other end of the tunnel where life seems visible. The rest of the population turn to dried leaves and flowers, fall on the ground, decay, the rich nidus for fungi. The love and desire, peace and happiness, the agony and misery, the diseases and depression were visible and demonstrable through this study of life cycle.

DISCUSSION :

What actually precipitates when hopes are charred Millions of eyes looking at their charred hopes develop paralysis, inability to move physically and mentally. They in no time, get adapted to a life cycle and that is cessation of movement, so drawn inward towards the bed and corners, looking vaguely at the window, outside or towards the birds in the sky flying at large. Nothing to accomplish, the eyes look around only to spend the time, hanging heavy. They think to stop the time as the gradual weight gain along with the time even alters the posture, the only curve of the life experienced, the droop of life.

CONCLUSION :

Finding no employment, the lots feel depressed, hopeless and demoralized. There was dedication, devotion and desire to learn. Having completed the course curriculum with interest for life and living, they now find the actual truth, face the real scenario to live with poverty hunger and frustration. Few get jobs and feel to move about and around. Most others confused, puzzled, laments for they have undergone the courses of study from families, already loaded and burdened with despair. They can neither live nor die. They prefer to die but the smile of the children hold them back.

An unknown epidemic or a severe earthquake is the expected solution so that perish is established and confirmed. The new life then would set in. it is wished that new life should not be that of human.