1. INTRODUCTION

It may be a Morden world. But, to learn mathematics, it is essential to learn the fundamental concept of Number Theory originated before some centuries.

Similarly, it may be any time, but the basic principle of the human body science is that each movement of each part of a human body is in the control of the brains of the person. We can mathematically say that there exists a bijection function (See [1]) from the set of all 3D behaviours of a human brain into the set of all body movements of the person. In the world, medical science was formulated before a few centuries. From the era, one of the interests of some people was to control others using the study about human body. Notably, the benefit was encouraged at the time of the First World War (1914-16), since the military of a country planned and tried to attack opposite side people without visible tools. Therefore, they used the help of medical science. That is, they decided to create new and top secret disease on the body of people of the different countries (See [2]). Next advanced tool was human mind control. These are called equipment's of biological or cold war (See [2], [4]). To control a person, it is enough to study, monitor and control brains of the person. In the ancient period, it has been documented without writing proofs that a person can control and brainwash another person through telepathy using body energy lever or some ways. In 1902, the first wireless telegraph station established between Sagar Island and Sandhead (See [11]). In 1927, the radio-telegraph system between the UK and India (See [11]) was begun. Around 1950, an investigation of controlling and brainwashing human behavior one step closer to reality was started using wireless communication (See [12]). In the same period, mind control experiments were conducted by CIA of US (See [10]). Around 1970, several research articles regarding brainwash, microwave and biological significance, the electric patterns of life, biological effects and microwave radiation, were published in journals. In 1974, India successfully conducted an underground nuclear test, unofficially code named as "Smiling Buddha". In 1975, the first satellite of India was launched for space research (See [3]).

Some deaths in India (1902-2016): In 1920, Number Theorist S. Ramanujan died by TB attack (See [13]). In 1950, S. S. Pillai died during the crash of TWA Flight 903 in Egypt on the way to a conference (See [14]). In 1984, Former Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was killed by her Indian army bodyguards (See [6]). In 1991 (See [9]), the assassination of Former Prime Minister of India Rajiv Gandhi occurred as a result of a suicide bombing. Former President of India Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam fell two times. The second time, he passed away in 2015 (See [8]). In 2016, Former Chief Minister of Tamil Nadu Dr. J.

Jayalithaa dead and the case about the death were going in the court of India (See [7]). Some Indian leaders have been affected by immediate health problem after getting the leadership.

In 2009, Indian scientists cloned the world's first buffalo using a simpler but advanced version of a technique.

Some ideal invisible scientific tools are microchips, cell phone tower waves, satellite waves, nanoparticles, Lacer waves, radar wave, magnetic field, electromagnetic ways, current wave, zero-gravity field, etc.

Many research articles suggest some conjectures as an application of the above mentioned ideal tools especially satellite (See [5]).

The next section provides the conjectures.

2. CONJECTURE

This section provides only conjectures.

A human brain can be studied. Human mind control, brainwash and clone using invisible scientific tools without knowing anybody are possible. Also, the brain can be recorded electronically and computerized as a library such that what area of the brain is working for what changes of the body. These records are the same for almost all people. By generating a magnetic field or zero-gravity field or any other field around a person using invisible tools without knowing anybody, it can be done that what area of the body should work in what time. Using this, even an abnormal person in the circumstance can give casual and safety movements like an average person. Some time, it can be negatively used. The body can be simultaneously expanded by closing all the holes of the body. A human brain can be modified like the brain of any other person or an animal, and so the person activity can be modified like as the other person or animal including the body structure also. In this situation, one may brainwash other for suicide attempt or anything, or it may be easy to kill one by another without touching manually. It can be known that the person is doing (like eating, seeing, speaking, drinking, sleeping, hearing, studying etc.) what even in a closed room. Any people, who don't know about mind control, can be constructed as a robot and so the robot person can be stimulated to do anything. Moreover, scientists can do their works at any circumstance, which may be moon, venus, aerospace, interior space of satellite, without any stress by giving to their brains the movements of the same electronic records of the minds of a suitable talented person, having good healthy body condition, when the person peacefully do the same work in the brain setup of the same circumstance. When the above points are possible, it may be nothing to study the working mechanism of the programming set up of an electric or electronic machine and to control the device without knowing anybody using invisible scientific tools. Hence, it is evident in occupying the body of a person having good body health and talent using human mind control and clone. Similarly, a developing College or University without knowing anybody.

3. CONCLUSION

In the history of Human Mind Control and Clone programme, it has been discussed that several top-secret deaths of people have happened (See [4], [10], [15]).
