Conclusion

Swati features among the few nakshatras that are implied by a single star. Swati has been highly regarded as the star for learning, and the abode of the Goddess of learning, Saraswati. The star is symbolised by a plant that is seen swaying by the force of wind. This illustration of the nakshatra signifies a lot of aspects such as being restive, impatience, flexibility, the state of being delicate, adaptability, with an predisposition towards moving around and wandering free. Swati Nakshatra people will be very passionate and lustful in nature. Sometimes they become very stubborn and arrogant individuals. They may not like the criticism of their personality and work. They feel the resentment towards the people who criticize them. The problem with them is that they will have the difficulty in adjusting with the situation. They will want everything as per their wants and they will do anything to achieve it. If other planets support it, then life goes smoothly. Otherwise they will face lot of problems in fulfilling their desires. If Moon is afflicted or associated with negative planets, then there can be uncontrolled sexual urges and impulsive nature is seen. Here in both cases they developed in height by the grace of the star.
